BODY FOUND

'Shorty' Sexton Committed Suicide By Jumping Into Island Creek.

MISSING FOR ONE MONTH

John HIGGS, a Logger, Found the Body at the Foot of Elizabeth Street This Morning.

THE INQUEST HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The mystery of Charles Sexton's mysterious disappearance on Saturday night, February 2, was solved today, when his badly decomposed remains were found at the foot of Elizabeth street, just at the mouth of Island creek, about 9 o'clock this morning by John Higgs, an employee at the Ferguson-Palmer mill.

The body was floating among the logs and Higgs was assisted in getting it out by Herman Isom and Geo. Hall, who were at work with him. The remains were easily recognized as those of Sexton by the clothing, watch chain, size, and general appearance. They evidently floated out of Island creek.

It seems that Sexton jumped into the creek, either from the tank near the foot of Third street, or from Island creek bridge.

Mrs. French, the maker of the trousers, wearing him on the night he disappeared. He got off at Nunn's grocery, at Third and Broad, and went directly to the creek. He doubtless was then bent on self destruction.

Coroner Phillips held an inquest at 1 o'clock this afternoon at Nance's undertaking establishment, the verdict being that he committed suicide by drowning. The remains were embalmed and will be kept until tomorrow. His brother in law, Miss, has been telegraphed, but not heard from. The funeral will probably take place tomorrow afternoon. Burial at Oak Grove.

Mr. Sexton disappeared February 2, four weeks ago Saturday. He had for some little time previous to that been suffering from mental aberration, and finally so frequently threatened to do violence to himself, he was incarcerated in the county jail.

At one time he attempted to throw himself from the second story window of a Broadway saloon, and was restrained only with great difficulty.

After remaining in jail a few days, he lay in a stupor for hours at a time, but finally seemed to completely recover his faculties, and was permitted to walk about.

His brother, Mr. Robert Sexton, of Amory, Miss., who had been here to look after him decided to take him home, and one Saturday night the patient disappeared, and the most exhaustive search failed to reveal any trace of his whereabouts.

His brother returned home, and there were various conjectures as to the missing man's actions. It was thought by some that he had carried out his threat to kill himself, while others believed he had been spirited away by designing persons for some unknown purpose.

He was "located" in half a dozen different cities, but in each instance the man proved to be other than "Shorty" Sexton, and his friends and relatives, after sending and receiving scores of telegrams and letters, gave up the search.

The dead man was about 42 years old, and came to Paducah from Henderson eight years ago. He was bartender most of the time for Mr. L. A. Lagomarsino, but for awhile was proprietor of the "Log Cabin saloon," on Broadway, near Second. He was familiarly known as "Shorty" Sexton. Previous to his residence in Henderson, he was in the shoe business at Mt. Vernon, Ill. He was in a cyclone which destroyed his home, and killed his wife and child, and so badly injured him that a silver plate was need to patch his skull. It is thought that this old injury is what caused his last aberration and resulted in his suicide.

He was first married here to Miss Elina Walker, by whom he leaves two children. A few years ago he secured a divorce from her. She and the two children now reside in Mechanicsburg. The deceased was subsequently married to a young lady of Illinois, who survives him, and lives over Caldwell's real estate office, on North Third, near Broadway.

DEFECTIVE BRAKES.

MAIL CAR STRUCK BY A SWITCH ENGINE AND TWO MAIL AGENTS HURT.

The air brakes on a rapidly moving switch engine at Fulton ran into work and the locomotive buried itself against a mail car near the depot. The two postal clerks, H. C. Worsham and H. E. Snow, who were in the car preparing to take their run, were hurled against the door and sides of the car with such force that they were badly bruised. Snow's head bore a large gash and his left arm and hip were almost paralyzed. Mr. Worsham received similar injuries and may be hurt inwardly. Both are residents of Jackson, Tenn.

The car was not badly damaged.

POLICE COURT.

ANDREW BARNETT HELD FOR STEALING MISS PATTERSON'S.

Rings—Several Fines Assessed for Breaches of the Peace This Morning By Judge Sanders.

Andrew Barnett, colored, who was warranted yesterday for stealing a diamond and ruby ring belonging to Miss May V. Patterson, was held to answer by Judge Sanders in the sum of $500 and will probably be indicted for obtaining money by false pretenses. He claimed he found the ring in Mr. Patterson's yard, and told so many stories about it that no credence was placed in anything he said. He had pawned the ruby ring for $2. The other one has not been found.

Will Parker, for abusing Ed Walker, was fined $10 and costs.

Will Walker, for disorderly conduct, on the street, was fined $10 and costs. John Scott, for being drunk and disorderly, was fined $1 and costs.

Will Rogers, for using threatening language towards M. V. Cherry, was fined $5 and costs.

KILLED HIS SWEETHEART.

JEALOUS LOVER TAKES THE LIFE OF THE WOMAN HE LOVED.

New York, March 5.—Tony Cortesi shot and instantly killed his sweetheart, Marie Cortesi, an actress, aged fifteen years, on the street today. Jealousy was the cause.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

Frank Faguhn, aged 15, son of Thomas Faguhn, and Willie Lynn, son of Cheatum Lynn, who live across the line in Pope county, a few miles from Metropolis, started hunting Saturday. The Lynn boy's gun was struck while crossing a creek and went off, the lead penetrating young Faguhn's breast, killing him instantly. The verdict of the jury was accidental death.

THE INJURED DOING WELL.

Engineer Joe Randall and Fireman Wilford Rogers, who were hurt yesterday in the rear-end collision at Obion, Tenn., the latter having both arms broken, are both getting along nicely.

CABINET NAMED

Mr. McKinley Selects His Old Cabinet With One Exception to Act as His Advisers.

SECRETARY GRIGGS QUILTS

He Will Continue to Serve However, Until His Successor is Chosen.

THE CROWDS ARE THINNING OUT

Washington, March 5.—The president continues his present efficient cabinet in office with him. He sent the nominations to the senate today and they will, of course, be confirmed. This is in keeping with the president's announced intention immediately after the election. He claimed that the endorsement of him at the polls last November carried with it the endorsement of the entire administration, all the way through. It is thought that he will carry out this policy in nearly all of the appointments. Griggs remains in the cabinet. It is only, however, until a successor has been selected.

CROWD THINNING OUT.

The crowd of visitors has decreased at a great rate, and there are also very few office seekers remaining. Generally the town is full for weeks after the inauguration, of claimants for recognition in the shape of some nice official berth. There are a number of Kentuckians in the remaining few.

DIVORCE SUITS.

TWO MISMATCHED COUPLES LONG FOR A SEVERANCE OF MARRIAGE TIES.

Annie Fears today filed suit in the circuit court against Jas. R. Fears for divorce and maintenance. She alleges they were married June 15, 1900, and that he treated her cruelly and abandoned her. She claims he has $200 in the bank and makes good wages and asks for proper maintenance.

Lon Ella Elrod and John Elrod for divorce, alleging adultery and abandonment. They are colored and formerly lived in Monmouth City, Ill.

Master Mechanic T. F. Barton has returned from Fulton.

Miss Oda Boran left today for Trimble, Tenn., on a visit to her sister and friends.

J. I. Lanston went to Marion and other town and Smithland, Ill., this afternoon in the interest of his house in man's and ladies' tailoring.

Mrs. Alvin Merrigold left at noon for Louisville, to visit friends and relatives.

W. A. Bogard and R. A. Burnett, of Cadiz, Trigg county, were at the New Richmond today.

Mr. Wm. Sanders and wife, of Bloomington, Ill., are at the New Richmond.

Mr. D. Reddick left today for Louisville, accompanied by his little daughter, Jeanette and Fannie.

INHUMAN FATHER.

HE ASSAULTS HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER BADLY INJURING BOTH.

Will Bradshaw, colored, who lives on South Tenth street, was warranted this morning for a cowardly assault on his wife and daughter, Lesalia Bradshaw. The daughter, with badly swollen face and blackened eyes, appeared at the city hall today and secured the warrant. She claims that last night her father got up about 1:30 and first assaulted her mother, knocking her into insensibility and then so badly injuring her arm that she cannot use it today. He then used a chair on his daughter. He has frequently threatened to kill them both, she declares. If arrested Bradshaw will be tried before Judge Sanders tomorrow.

DEPUTY MARSHAL SANDERS BACK.

Deputy United States Marshal G. W. Sanders returned this morning from Mayfield, and reports that his son, who was seriously ill, is better.

CARNIVAL MAN EXPECTED.

Mr. Gaekel, who is to confer with the Elks relative to their May carnival, is expected at 6:05 this evening from Ohio.

THIRD TIME

Carter Harrison, Chicago's Young Mayor, Nominated Again Today.

A DUEL FOUGHT IN FRANCE

J. W. Durant, a New Yorker, Was Slain By a Russian Count Today.

WAS THE OUTCOME OF A BRAWL

Chicago, Ill., March 5.—Carter H. Harrison, for the third time, will lead the Democratic hosts in the mayoralty race this spring. He was nominated today amid great burraba and is almost certain of election, as the city is greatly displeased at the nomination of Judge Healey to lead the Republicans. Hauey is the tool of Lorimer, a local boss, much disliked for his methods.

FRANCHISE STYLE.

Paris, France, March 5.—John Wilson Durant, a New Yorker, was killed in a duel today by a Russian count at Ostend. It is alleged that Durant killed a nephew of the count's in a bar room quarrel.

Neighbors Not Unusually Frightened. A visitor to Cape Trafalgar reports that in the neighborhood village, where he stayed a week, not one of the inhabitants had heard of the historic naval battle that was fought off the coast 55 years ago. An old mulattoer who was passing through was better informed. In his youth he had heard old people talking about the fight, and had the impression that Christopher Columbus was the leading performer.

Nothing Definite is as Yet Given Out, But It is a Sure Thing.

LOCAL DEMOCRATS ARE INTERESTED

It is reported that there is to be a new newspaper in Paducah. It will be a daily, have a modern equipment in every respect and will probably be launched before Easter. It is to be Democratic in politics, and if reports are true some of Paducah's most prominent Democrats will be interested in it. At present no other information can be made public.

LIGHT SENTENCE.

ILLINOIS MURDERER GETS 21 YEARS IN THE PEN.

Pekin, Ill., March 5.—Samuel Moser, convicted of murdering his wife and three children was today sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary. The verdict is considered as a very light one.

The forecast for tomorrow is for fair and colder weather.

A horse belonging to the Rhodes-Barford company ran away on North Eighth street this morning and frightened Dr. Frank Boyd's horse, which was standing in front of the Eighth street infirmary. It turned the doctor's buggy over but did no damage of consequence. The other buggy was uninjured.

Dr. Lillard Sanders performed two successful operations at the city hospital yesterday afternoon. The bone in the right limb of Miss Lulu Warmack was scraped, and an abscess in Charles Bartlett's hand was opened. The latter was formerly with Buckskin Bill.

The public is cordially invited to the organ recital this Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. No charge whatever.

Captain Hardiman Robinson, of Fulton, continues to improve slowly at the Illinois Central hospital.

DANGERS OF OPERA GLASSES.

"Cheap opera glasses are an abomination," said an eye specialist. "There is no doubt about this. I have made a special study of the matter. Lots of eyes are nearly ruined by them. I find this particularly true of young girls who go to a great deal to the theater, and who seem to think they must have opera glasses. To their way of thinking an opera glass is an opera glass, and that's all there is to it. So they buy cheap ones, and then wonder why their eyes are giving them so much trouble, and why they have such bad headaches. Unless the very best lenses are used, I should advise everybody to taboo opera glasses. The further from the stage one is the better and more perfect the glasses should be. Exactly the reverse of this is actually the case, or the people who sit in the rear seats or in the balcony are usually the ones who have the poorest glasses. A performance viewed with the naked eye is much more satisfactory, to my way of thinking. An opera glass gives but a limited view, and only the one object on which it is focused is visible. I don't see why people use even the best of them."—Philadelphia Record.

A NOVELTY.

THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL WILL TEACH FARMERS HOW TO BUILD GOOD ROADS.

About the middle of this month the Illinois Central will send out a special train, consisting of eight or nine cars, from New Orleans to Chicago. It will contain machinery for the building of modern wagon roads. It will make stops along the line and the crew will show the farmers how to build good roads. Advance agents will go ahead of the train and work up mass meetings at specified points, interesting farmers in the coming of the train. The National Good Roads association will co-operate with the Illinois Central. This is the first time anything of this kind has been attempted in America.

RELIGIOUS FERVOR AT FULTON.

Fulton, Ky., March 5.—There is considerable activity in religious circles here. Rev. J. H. Wright, who resigned as pastor of the First Baptist church last Sunday, has been called to the pastorate of the Union City church. At the First Methodist church the pastor, Rev. J. G. Clarke, has begun a revival, assisted by Rev. J. W. Lowrance, an eminent preacher of the Memphis conference. Today at the Baptist church an hour was devoted to special prayer for the state and nation, this being inauguration day. The new $4,000 Cumberland Presbyterian church has been completed and will be dedicated soon. The Baptists will build a new modern edifice here this summer.

A DOUBLE TRACK.

It is reported that Vice President J. T. Harahan, of the Illinois Central, announced while in New Orleans a few days since that during the coming spring the Illinois Central would double track its line between Jackson, Miss., and Crystal Springs, and it was probable the entire line from New Orleans to Jackson would be similarly treated. The business of the road has grown to enormous proportions on account of the increased production of fruits and vegetables and the output of lumber from the gulf.

It is out of danger.

Dr. Frank Boyd has returned from MoLeansboro, Ill., leaving his little daughter, who was dangerously ill from scarlet fever, out of danger.

C. Macdonald, a helper in the I. C. machine shop, was injured yesterday by an axle driver falling on it.

KNITTING MILLS

The Big Factory at Eighth and Jones Streets Starts Today.

WILL BE A BIG CONCERN

The Present Force Is Small, But Will Be Increased as Operators Learn the Business.

WILL EMPLOY ONE HUNDRED PEOPLE

The Alden Knitting mill, at Eighth and Jones streets, started up yesterday, after several weeks spent in arranging for the start.

There are at present only eight persons employed in the big factory, because of the fact that every one has to go through a course of instruction. More will be added from time to time, until there are 100 or more employed. The factory is one of Paducah's biggest industries, and will prove a great advantage to her.

IGNORES THE RULE.

Judge Tully made a rule recently ordering the Citizens' Building and Loan company and Mr. T. J. Flannery, assignee, to appear forthwith and show cause why they should not be fined for contempt. The defendants have continued to ignore it, in defiance of instructions from their attorneys. They claim the case is in circuit court and Judge Tully has nothing to do with it.

FOUR EVENTFUL YEARS.

Yesterday saw the close of a remarkable progress and a more remarkable administration—one that will go down in history as the most remarkable since the time of Lincoln. This country has been making history at a breakneck speed—true Yankee fashion—in the four years just closed. We have seen questions, weighted with problems serious and of much import, come up for settlement; in that time the United States have advanced to the front ranks of world powers—and from present indications will henceforth exercise great influence in all international problems: we have seen destruction and reconstruction; we have seen a war with a foreign nation, the first since 1812-15; new territory has been added to our domain; a military system calculated to meet the demands of this enlarged domain has been provided and an entirely new career has been marked out for the country. It is a wonderful record that will be appreciated by the coming generations than by the present. The next four years are equally important. Mr. McKinley has been a leading factor in the history just made. He has settled the question arising from the satisfaction of a big majority of the people, and The Sun has every confidence of his doing the same with the unsettled problems of the present and the ones the future hold in store for us.

THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

President McKinley's inaugural address was a modest statement of the glorious events of his first administration with a very clear and concise outline of his policy for the future as to the two great questions which now confront the nation as a legacy of the late war—the Cuban and Philippine questions. Although the war has been closed barely three years yet the government has been enabled to make a very large reduction in the war tax. The country is enjoying the greatest of prosperity and the will of the people as evidenced by the election of 1896 has been very largely executed. "But fortunate as our condition is," says the president, "its permanence can only be assured by sound business methods and strict economy in national administration and legislation. We should not permit our great prosperity to lead us to reckless ventures in business or profligacy in public expenditures."

While the president did all that could be done honorably to avert the Spanish-American war, it becomes inevitable. But it imposed on us obligations from which we cannot escape and from which it would be dishonorable to seek to escape.

The president rejoices that sectional lines have been wiped out; that "Sectionalism has disappeared," and that "division on public questions can no longer be traced to the war maps of 1861."

The address shows unbounded faith in the "capacity, integrity and high purposes of the American people."

"Our institutions will not deteriorate by extension and our sense of justice will not abate under tropic suns in distant seas."

"The American people, entrenched in freedom at home, take their love for it with them wherever they go and they reject as mistaken and unworthy the doctrine that we lose our own liberty by securing the enduring foundations of liberty to others."

As to the Cuban question the president's utterance should satisfy the most bitter partisans of Cuban freedom. He says:

"The peace which we are pledged to leave to the Cuban people must carry with it the guarantee of permanence. We became sponsors for the pacification of the island, and we remain accountable to the Cubans, no less than to our own country and people, for the reconstruction of Cuba as a free commonwealth, on abiding foundations of right, justice, liberty and assured order. Our enfranchisement of the people will not be completed until free Cuba shall be a reality."

slightly, not a name, a perfect cut, not a hasty experiment, leaving within itself the elements of failure."

As to the future of the Philippines, the president's statements, are equally as clear and forcible. "We will not leave the destiny of the loyal millions in the hands of the loyal thousands who are in rebellion against the United States. I shall continue the efforts already begun, until order shall be restored throughout the islands, and as fast as conditions permit will establish local governments, in the formation of which the full co-operation of the people has been already invited, and when established will encourage the people to administer them. The settled purpose, long ago prevailed, to afford the inhabitants of the islands self-government as fast as they were ready for it, will be pursued with earnestness and fidelity."

Before such a policy the ghost of imperialism will vanish into thin air.

No state in the whole south has been more benefited by the influx of capital than has Alabama, and yet some of her Populistic citizens are advising her legislature to "go against the trusts," as they call anti-capital legislation. It seems strange that with all the evidence about us of the great benefits of capital in developing the vast resources of our Southland that any one should want to inaugurate a war against the very agencies that are bringing the south to the front rank in commercial importance. The Birmingham News commenting on this proposed hostile legislation says: "In the end these laws have served to needlessly annoy and impede capital and have proved a positive detriment to the development of resources of those states which have enacted them." The time has come in the south when business people should direct the affairs of state and not pessimistic theorists. Kentucky has greatly suffered by reason of the ill advised legislation that has been put on her law books in order to satisfy the Populistic element, when that element was in control.

The cigarette must go. Not only are the various state legislatures in many instances passing stringent measures against the pernicious article, but even the girls are taking up the fight. In Pittsburgh the young ladies have formed an anti-cigarette league and have issued the edict that "the boys must give up the cigarettes or give up the girls." Should ever the Kentucky girls lay down such an ultimatum there would be no need of state legislation, here to see the passing of the cigarette.

The proposed organization of another pants factory by home capital is a move in the right direction. There are many opportunities for profitable investment of capital in the establishment of factories by our own citizens which will not only be most excellent investments in themselves, but will also be of great benefit to Paducah. Paducah is essentially manufacturing city, and money judiciously invested in manufacturing enterprises will benefit both the city and the investor.

Colonel Tom Campbell must have smiled when he read the alleged reasons which Kentucky's embryonic statehood, who signs pardons for criminals and otherwise lives up to his ideal of what a governor should be and should do, "gave for his action in pardoning the gambler Alvey."

Every citizen of Kentucky ought to read the remarks of Judge Barker, of Louisville, to the grand jury when he discusses the action of Governor Beckham in pardoning Alvey, the convicted gambler. The deep disgrace which the action of the governor has brought on the state is largely counteracted by the noble and fearless words of Judge Barker.

The Sun yesterday contained all the news from Washington which is more than The News can say.

THE SUN'S DAILY STORY.

—A DANGEROUS EXPERIMENT.

By H. K. ALDEN.

Copyright, 1901, by the Daily Story Publ. Co.

It was not singular, perhaps, with the present mood of dress, fashionless and the fact that there was nothing peculiar about my appearance, that I should closely resemble another young woman, so closely that I was mistaken in the dusk for a Miss Arnold. It roused me from my condition of apathy and gave just the impetus I needed.

The fact was that though I was scarcely in the twenties, I was disgusted with life, or was it my commonplace surroundings? Having come up to my mind that in a new atmosphere I should breathe easier, I had boarded until I had the means of escape and was on the threshold of my new life: I was taking my first walk in a strange city.

"Miss Arnold-Skippy!" a young man with fair hair, blue eyes behind glasses, a decidedly red nose and even, white teeth had grasped my arm and was on the point of shaking me. "I am—Before I could flash my sentence, as I intended—not Miss Arnold," he exclaimed. "Of course you are surprised to see me and all that, but I have been seeking you for some time. I am the editor of the Sunday newspaper. I am lucky for once!"

"But I fear—We are together again! For the interim I care nothing. That is a dream, a nightmare. We are together!"

I was just in the mood to humor him. I was fond of adventure, but thus far life had been tame. There was a spirit of mischief in me despite my despondency. I would listen awhile and when I had to retreat I would charge it up to a young girl's caprice, rather than to boldness.

"As usual," he said, "you let me do all the talking."

"You are equal to it," I replied, wondering why my voice did not betray me.

"You studied elocution at college," he said, "and you are a natural. Your voice is deeper, richer; it was always sweet."

"Thank you," I said, bowing low in acknowledgment.

"Miss Arnold-Skippy," he said, "I know you by your real name."

"But I don't," I said, "I never like Miss Arnold. I don't believe there's another girl in this city who has that modest, yet independent bearing." I knew, alas, Miss Arnold whose father I was fast appropriating. We were passing under a gaslight now, and I was in discovery.

"You haven't altered a bit, little girl, since we rowed on Potholes Lake together." I mentally made a note to locate Potholes Lake in the Greater at the first opportunity. He went on: "Since I have made up my mind never to question your movements during our separation to prove my trust (if any proof be needed) the past we know together and the future we shall know together are the only periods of interest. Surely I may ask where you are now."

"At 13 Amber Lane."

"I shall escort you home. There is no reason why I should not, Skippy."

"Nonsense whatever," I said, "I don't know what I feared!"

It was growing serious, Skippy. I put an end to this tragic comedy. I flashed through my mind that my new landlady had not asked my name and I had given none that morning. Why not be Miss Arnold henceforth?

"I've run away," I ventured.

"I know you would," he said, enthusiastically. "Do you remember, dear, that night we talked about our possessions possessing us finally? You said you wished you had not a nameable thing in the world, but your health, your talents and the clothes on your back!"

"Remember," I echoed. I did remember—some things.

"I must go home," I said, fearing were the interview too long I might betray myself. So we went backward. After that night we met frequently. "Do you remember," was the beginning of most of his remarks. I had always been quick at evasion, and I managed to steer clear of several. When I found out to a certainty what season of the year he courted Miss Arnold, I returned a few queries of my own: "That perfect day, that moonlight night, etc."

"When I learned that Miss Arnold was artistically inclined, I told my plan to color photographs for illustration. Surely we must have been made of the same batch of clay, we DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any case of deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

"CROWN" SALARIES.

THEY VARY, BUT GENERALLY ARE QUITE "HEALTHY."

The president of the Swiss republic, who holds office for only one year, gets the smallest salary of any ruler in Europe. His compensation is $3,000 per annum.

The president of the French republic gets $350,000 a year, just five times what our president receives, and holds his office for seven years. Besides, he has country houses, steam yachts, private cars, game preserves, and other luxuries maintained for him at the expense of the state.

Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, gets about $2,000,000 a year from the Austrian exchequer, and as much from Hungary, but he has to maintain a lot of court theaters and operas, and if it were not for the private fortune of the house of Hapsburg, which is large, would have trouble to make both ends meet.

King Victor Emmanuel gets $3,000,000 a year, a great share of which is spent in keeping up the palaces of the various Italian royalties that have been absorbed by the kingdom of Italy.

Kaiser Wilhelm, of Germany, gets as king of Prussia, $3,000,000 a year, but the private fortune of the Hohenzollern family, which belongs to him, are large.

The young King Alfonso, of Spain, has an allowance of $1,500,000 a year. His mother, the queen regent, has a jointure of $50,000 a year and a large fortune inherited from her uncle, while the princess of the Asturias, who married last week, has an allowance from the state of $100,000 a year, and her sister one of $30,000.

The czar has $4,000,000 a year from the national revenues, and an immense private fortune.

King Leopold, of Belgium, has $700,000 a year, besides his profits from the Congo deal.

The king of Portugal is rather poor, having only $800,000 a year, but his queen has $100,000 a year from her private fortune.

The young queen of Holland draws $300,000 a year from the national exchequer, but has one of the largest private fortunes in Europe.

King George, of Greece, got $240,000 a year, toward which Great Britain, France and Russia have each contributed $20,000 annually since 1863.

The kings of Denmark and of Sweden and Norway each get $300,000 a year.

STRONG POINTS
M'KINLEY
THIS GIVES PLenty TIME.
The peace which we are pledged to leave to the Cuban people must carry with it the guarantee of permanence. We became sponsors for the pacification of the island, and we remain accountable to the Cubans, no less than to our own country and people, for the reconstruction of Cuba as a free commonwealth on abiding foundations of right, justice, liberty and assured order. Our enfranchisement of the people will not be completed until free Cubans shall "be a reality, not a name; a perfect entity, not a hasty experiment bearing within itself the elements of failure."

THE CUBAN QUESTION.
We face at this moment a most important question—that of the future relations of the United States and Cuba. With our neighbors we must remain close friends. The declaration of the purpose of this government in the resolution of April 20, 1898, must be made good.

THE PHILIPPINES.
Our countryman should not be deceived. We are not waging war against the inhabitants of the Philippine islands. A portion of them is making war against the United States.

FIGHTING TO GO ON.
The congress having added the sanction of its authority to the power already possessed and exercised by the executive under the constitution, thereby leaving with the executive the responsibility for the government of the Philippines, I shall continue the efforts already begun until order shall be restored throughout the islands, and as fast as conditions permit will establish local governments, in the formation of which the full cooperation of the people has been already invited, and when established will encourage the people to administer them.

A TIMELY RESCUE.
A day or two ago a girl who appeared to be about 15 years old was on her way to the Broadway high school. It being late, the little girl started to climb over the hampers between two freight cars in the I. C. shop yard. Switch engine No. 253 bumped the train, knocking the child off, and she fell across the track. Had it not been for Uncle Tom Homan, a colored man standing near, in one minute she would have been instantly crushed to death. The young lady's name could not be learned.

MUCH FEELING.
MAYFIELD BAR WROUGHT UP BY THE ELECTION OF A SPECIAL

Judge—Judge W. P. Lee is Now Serving. But Complications are Feared.

Yesterday the Mayfield bar had to elect a special judge on account of the absence of Judge J. E. Robbins, and much feeling has been shown there as a result, according to reports brought here today.

The three candidates were Attorney One Thomas, W. P. Lee and J. P. Evans.

The vote stood Lee 12, Evans 9 and Thomas 8. Several changed their votes to Thomas before the result was announced, but the clerk declared Judge Lee elected despite the fact that Thomas had more votes, and that it was claimed he could not hold it because he was a referee in bankruptcy.

Considerable feeling was aroused, but Judge Lee was sworn in, and empaneled the grand jury.

There is talk of contesting every case that comes before him, on the grounds that his election was illegal and he is ineligible.

Condon's help getting a cold never comes off; but carrying home a bottle of BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP, and using it as directed, will cure the worst cold or cough. Price, 25 and 50 cents.

THE WALLS FELL.
The walls of the ruins of Usher block, which burned about a week ago at Mayfield, were blown down by the wind last night, and tore down telegraph, telephone and electric light wires, entailing considerable damage.

DESERVED COMPLIMENT.
The following clipping is a deserved compliment to Mr. A. E. Bailey, a Paducah boy, well and favorably known: Mr. A. E. Bailey, late city editor of the Ashland News, left for Louisville Thursday.

Mr. Bailey has been in the city since last fall and has made a number of friends who are sorry to see him leave. He is an experienced reporter and made quite a reputation as a correspondent for the metropolitan papers during the famous Gibson murder case and trial.

The Times understands Mr. Bailey has some flattering offers from some large dailies, and he certainly has the best wishes of this sheet and his many friends here.—Ashland Times.

He Was the Carpenter.

The great sculptor Chantrey commenced his career as a journeyman carpenter, in connection with which fact there is an odd story told. One day while inspecting a costly vase in the house of the wealthy poet Rogers he asked, with a smile, who made the vase on which the artist stood. "Curiously enough," said Rogers, "it was not made by a cabinet maker, but by a common carpenter." Chantrey asked: "Did you see it made?" and Rogers, supposing the query to be one of incredulity, replied positively: "Certainly I saw it in the room while the man finished it with the chisel, and I gave him instructions in placing it." Chantrey laughed and said: "You did I remember that and all the circumstances perfectly well." "You" exclaimed the poet. "Yes," said Chantrey quietly. "I was the carpenter."—Kansas City Independent.

Five Species of Dogs.

The fauna of the Roman occupation of Britain, five distinct species of dogs were there, most of which can with certainty be identified with those of the present day. There were the house dog, the greyhound, the bulldog, the terrier and the slowhound.
